HISTORY

The resourcefulness and genius of a boy who, at only 16 years of age, in Rome, sees in the door-to-door sale of textiles an expanding project: this is the beginning of Naman's story. The talented and somewhat reckless boy's name is David Mayer Naman. He lives in an old Jewish area of the capital, after having been fled with his family in 1967 from a besieged Libya.

Rome became his launching pad: with his older brothers Quintino and Lillo, who believed in his project, founded the company that bears his name. He still leads the entire group as General Manager.

Over the years, the Naman Group has undergone significant development, establishing its fashion brands in international markets and entering the restaurant and real estate business, thereby diversifying its activities. Reactivity, dynamism and innovation are in fact the characteristics that most represent the company, just like the devotion to beauty that David Mayer Naman expresses in all his activities.

THE GROUP

A passion for Italian creativity and craftsmanship with international flair. A family in which ideas, projects, visions and evolutions have always taken off and landed. Confidence in the conquering allure of the beautiful and well-made. This, in short, is the essence of Naman, a group that includes a series of companies operating in the fashion, restaurant and real estate investment sectors.

The management and development of the activities of the various business divisions are entrusted to founder David Mayer Naman and the invaluable support of the new generation, which he had the foresight to train to ensure the continuity of its original values, albeit always with a contemporary twist.

Passion, dedication and curiosity translate into a strong focus on everything new and current. The Naman Group now has shops in the most prestigious shopping districts in Italy, the UK, Europe and China
